UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
San Francisco Division

ROSMINAH BROWN and ERIC LOHELA, on behalf of themselves and all others
similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

v.

THE HAIN CELESTIAL GROUP, INC.,

Defendant.

No. 3:11-cv-03082-LB

AMENDED ORDER APPROVING CLASS-ACTION SETTLEMENT, DISMISSING
CASE, AND ENTERING FINAL JUDGMENT

[Re: ECF Nos. 362, 367]

INTRODUCTION

The plaintiffs Rosminah Brown and Eric Lohela bought Avalon Organics® and JASON® brand cosmetic products that are manufactured and marketed by the defendant The Hain Celestial Group and then – on behalf of themselves and other consumers – sued Hain complaining that Hain falsely advertised, marketed, sold, and labeled these and other products as organic, in violation of 1) the California Organic Products Act of 2003 (“COPA”), Cal. Health & Safety Code § 110810, et seq., 2) the Unfair Competition Law (“UCL”), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq., 3) the Consumers Legal Remedies Act (“CLRA”), Cal. Civ. Code § 1750, et seq., and 4) the California Commercial Code provision regarding express warranties, Cal. Com. Code § 2313. The court previously certified two classes. The parties then settled their lawsuit and the court granted the plaintiffs’ unopposed motion for preliminary approval of the class-action settlement.

1 (Order, ECF No. 360.¹) The plaintiffs moved for final approval of the settlement. (Motion, ECF
 2 No. 367.) The court held a fairness hearing on February 11, 2016. (Minute Order, ECF No. 369.)
 3 The court finds the settlement fair, adequate, and reasonable and approves the final settlement, 4 including fees, costs, and the incentive awards to the named plaintiffs.

6 STATEMENT

7 1. The lawsuit to date

8 The plaintiffs filed the lawsuit in May 2011, and Hain removed the case in June 2011. (ECF 9 No. 1.) The operative complaint is the first amended complaint filed in August 2012. (See ECF 10 No. 68.) In a second case filed initially in the Central District of California, transferred here, 11 related to this case, and then stayed, the plaintiff Lauren Crivier alleged violations of California’s 12 False Advertising Law (“FAL”), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500 et seq., the UCL, and the CLRA 13 based on the same misleading use of the word “organic” on the principal display panel of some 14 JASON® products as well as other uses of the words “natural” and “organic” on product labels
 15 and advertising. (Complaint, ECF No. 1, No. 3:13-cv-02237-LB.)

16 The litigation has been protracted and included 1) a motion to dismiss (denied), 2) Hain’s 17 petition for interlocutory appeal to the Ninth Circuit (denied by the Ninth Circuit), 3) a second 18 motion to dismiss and a motion to strike class allegations in the first amended complaint (denied), 19 4) contentious discovery, 5) Hain’s summary-judgment motion asserting that a state agency 20 determination “extinguished” the plaintiffs’ claims (denied), 6) the court’s certification of two 21 classes, and 7) three motions by the plaintiffs for partial summary judgment (all granted). (See 22 Docket.) The parties also had several rounds of court-hosted and private mediation. (Todzo Decl., 23 ECF No. 355-1 at ¶¶ 5-6.) The parties’ last settlement conference with Magistrate Judge Joseph 24 Spero (held six months before the trial date) resulted in an agreement in principle, and the parties 25 then negotiated the final terms of the settlement. (Id. ¶ 6.)

1 2. The settlement

2 The court previously certified the following two classes:

3 The “JASON® Class,” defined as:

4 All persons who purchased a cosmetic product in California sold under the 5 JASON® brand name between May 12, 2007 and January 31, 2011 other than 6 those JASON® brand cosmetic products that are USDA-certified as organic.

7 The “Avalon Organics® Class”, defined as:

8 All persons who purchased a cosmetic product in California sold under the Avalon 9 Organics® brand name between May 12, 2007 and the present other than those Avalon Organics® brand cosmetic products that are USDA-certified as organic.

10 (11/18/15 Order, ECF No. 269; 11/30/14 Order Modifying Class Definitions, ECF No. 272.)

11 The parties agreed to a modified class definition for settlement purposes only:

12 All individuals who purchased the Challenged Products in California within the 13 Class Period. Specifically excluded from the Class are (a) Defendant, (b) the 14 officers, directors, or employees of Defendant and their immediate family 15 members, (c) any entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest, (d) any 16 affiliate, legal representative, heir, or assign of Defendant, (e) all federal court 17 judges who have presided over this Action and their immediate family members; 18 (f) all persons who submit a valid request for exclusion from the Class; and 19 (g) those who purchased the Challenged Products for the purpose of resale.

20 (See Settlement Agreement, Todzo Decl., Ex. 1, ECF No. 358-3, §§ 1.A.12 & V.) “Challenged
21 Products” are defined as “all Avalon Organics® and JASON® brand cosmetic products at issue in 22 this Action that were manufactured and/or sold during the Class Period, a complete list of which 23 is provided in . . . Exhibit F hereto.” (Id. § I.A.7.) The “Class Period” is from May 11, 2007 to 24 January 30, 2011 for purchases of JASON® products and May 11, 2007 to May 11, 2011 for 25 purchases of Avalon Organics® products. (Id. § I.A.16.) As part of the settlement, the parties 26 stipulated to adding Ms. Crivier as a named plaintiff and dismissing her separate complaint. (Id.
27 § II.F.)

28 In summary form, the settlement is as follows.

Hain will pay $7.5 million cash and $1.85 million in coupons (plus $150,000 in redemption costs) redeemable for the two cosmetic-product brands at issue in the litigation: Avalon Organics® and JASON®. The fund will be used to pay all costs of notice and administration (estimated in the settlement agreement as $585,000 and capped at $650,000), any fees and costs

1 awarded to the plaintiffs' counsel (up to $4 million), service awards to the plaintiffs, and claims
2 by class members. Class members are eligible to receive either 1) a cash payment or 2) a cash 3 payment and coupons. Those who elect a cash-only payment will receive 50% of the purchase 4 price of each Avalon Organics® or JASON® product up to a total of $50. (For example, if a 5 claimant bought $100 of products, a cash-only payment would be $50.) Those who elect cash and 6 coupons will receive 50% of purchase price of the products purchased and coupons substituted 7 for 20% of the purchase price (with a cash-to-coupon ratio of $1 cash to $4 in coupons) up to a 8 total of $80. (For example, a claimant who bought $100 in products would receive $40 in cash 9 (80% of the $50 cash payment) and $40 in coupons.) There will be no cap on the total amount 10 paid to claimants – either for cash or cash/coupon payments – who have receipts or other proof of 11 purchase (such as a credit- or debit-card statement or product packaging) for the challenged 12 products; claimants without receipts will self-identify under penalty of perjury. (Id. § III.)

13 The settlement provides for service awards in an amount not to exceed $7,500 for Rosminah 14 Brown and Eric Lohela and $1,500 for Lauren Crivier. (Id. § VIII.B.) (The plaintiffs no longer 15 seek a service award for Ms. Crivier. (See Motion, ECF No. 362 at 31.))

16 If any of the $7.5 million remains in the fund after paying all claims, service awards, and fees 17 and costs, the money will be donated cy pres, in equal amounts, to two non-profit organizations: 18 the California Consumer Protection Foundation and the Jesse Smith Noyes Foundation.
19 (Settlement Agreement, Todzo Decl., Ex. 1, ECF No. 358-3, § III.A.6.)

20 In return for the settlement relief, class members who do not opt out of the settlement will 21 release claims under the COPA, UCL, CLRA, express-warranty provisions of the California 22 Commercial Code, and any other similar state or federal laws, in connection with the Challenged 23 Products. (Id. § IV.) But the revised class period means that the settlement does not release Hain 24 from any claims that the post-reformulation Avalon Organics® products continue to violate the 25 COPA by (allegedly) counting as organic content the water used to rehydrate the dehydrated aloe 26 in the products. (See id. §§ I.A.7 & I.A.16.)

1 3. Notice to the class

2 The independent claims administrator is the Heffler Claims Group; its responsibilities are in 3 the settlement agreement and include publishing class notice, establishing a website, distributing 4 funds to class members, and otherwise administering the settlement. (Id. § III.A.2 & Exs. A, C-E.)

5 The court previously approved the form of notice:

6 The court approves the class notice and the notice plan and finds that the class notice 7 provides the best notice practicable, satisfies the notice requirements of Rule 23, 8 adequately advises class members of their rights under the settlement agreement, and 9 meets the requirements of due process. The form of notice fairly, plainly, accurately, and 10 reasonably provides class members with all required information, including (among other 11 things): (1) a summary of the lawsuit and claims asserted; (2) a clear definition of the 12 class; (3) a description of the material terms of the settlement; (4) a disclosure of the 13 release of the claims should they remain class members; (5) an explanation of class-14 members' opt-out rights, a date by which they must opt out, and information about how to 15 do so; (6) instructions on how to object to the settlement and the deadline for doing so; (7) 16 the date, time, and location of the Final Approval Hearing; (8) the Internet address for the 17 settlement and the toll-free number and other means for obtaining additional information 18 about the settlement; and (9) the identity of class counsel and the provisions for attorneys' 19 fees, costs, and class-representative service awards. (Settlement Agreement § VI, Exs. C 20 and E.)

21 (Order, ECF No. 360 at 7-8.)

22 The court previously approved the following notice plan and directed notice:

23 Within 30 days of this order, the Claims Administrator will establish a settlement 24 website, which will have (1) the publication notice, (2) a list of frequently asked 25 questions, (3) key deadlines, (4) downloadable copies of the court's orders and the 26 pleadings relating to the settlement, (5) the signed stipulation of settlement, (6) 27 downloadable copies of the class notice and claim form, (7) information about how to 28 contact the Claim Administrator via a toll-free number, email, and mail, and (8) information about how to file a claim. (Id. § VI(B) & Ex. D.)

Notice will be published in several places, all of which will refer class members to the settlement website. Within 35 days of this order, a full-page advertisement will be published in the California edition of People Magazine, and a one-sixth-page advertisement will be published four times over a three-week period in the San Francisco Chronicle. Press releases in English and Spanish that target class members will be disseminated via the PR Newswire. Within 30 days of this order, Internet and mobile advertisements in English and Spanish that target class members will be run for 31 days on various media services, including People.com, Pulpo Media, USWeekly.com, Xaxis, Sharethrough, Facebook, and Twitter. (Id.)

The court directs the Claim Administrator to follow the notice plan set forth in this order and in the settlement agreement, including (1) establishing the settlement website with copies of this order, the stipulated settlement agreement and all exhibits, class notice, the claims forms that may be downloaded and submitted online, by mail, or by facsimile, and other information required by the settlement agreement or useful to the class members (including the toll-free hotline and methods for contacting the Claim Administrator and a 1 link to class counsel's website), (2) establishing the toll-free hotline, and (3) commencing 2 notice within 30 days from the date of this order (which is slightly more than 90 days 3 before the Final Approval Hearing). The costs of the notice, the processing of claims, and 4 other Claim Administrator expenses may be paid from the claim fund in accordance with 5 the applicable provisions of the settlement agreement.

6 (Id. at 8-9.)

7 The claims administrator complied with these procedures. (See Rapazzini Decl., ECF No.
8 367-6, ¶¶ 4-14.) As of January 27, 2016, there were 80,961 visits to the settlement website, and 9 class members submitted 22,126 claims forms. This results (so far) in cash payments of 10 $840,539.52 and $112,474 in coupons. (Id. ¶ 14.) The deadline for members to opt out or object to 11 the settlement was January 12, 2016. (See Order, ECF No. 260 at 8.) The claims administrator 12 received no objections. (See Rapazzini Decl., ECF No. 367-6, ¶ 12.) Four objectors filed 13 objections with the court. (See ECF Nos. 361, 363, 364, 365.)

14 ANALYSIS

15 1. Jurisdiction

16 This court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2).

17 2. Certification of Class

18 The court certifies the following settlement class for settlement purposes only under Federal 19 Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(3). (See Order, ECF No. 360 at 5.)

20 All individuals who purchased the Challenged Products in California within the Class 21 Period. Specifically excluded from the Class are (a) Defendant, (b) the officers, 22 directors, or employees of Defendant and their immediate family members, (c) any 23 entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest, (d) any affiliate, legal 24 representative, heir, or assign of Defendant, (e) all federal court judges who have 25 presided over this Action and their immediate family members, (f) all persons who 26 submit a valid request for exclusion from the Class, and (g) those who purchased the 27 Challenged Products for the purpose of resale.

28 (See Settlement Agreement, Todzo Decl., Ex. 1, ECF No. 358-3, §§ 1.A.12 & V.) "Challenged Products" are defined as "all Avalon Organics® and JASON® brand cosmetic products at issue in this Action that were manufactured and/or sold during the Class Period, a complete list of which is provided in . . . Exhibit F hereto." (Id. § I.A.7.) The "Class Period" is from May 11, 2007, to

1 January 30, 2011, for purchases of JASON® brand products and May 11, 2007, to May 11, 2011,
2 for purchases of Avalon® brand products. (Id. § I.A.16.)

3 The settlement class differs in scope from the classes that the court certified previously only 4 in that it excludes purchases of post-reformulation Avalon Organics® products by excluding 5 purchases after May 11, 2011. Thus, the court applies its analysis from its certification order and 6 finds (for settlement purposes only) that the proposed settlement class meets the Rule 23(a) 7 prerequisites of numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy: 1) the class is so numerous 8 that joinder of all members is impracticable; 2) there are common questions of law and fact 9 common to the class; 3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the 10 claims or defenses of the class; and 4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect 11 the interests of the class. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a); 11/18/14 Order, ECF No. 269 at 17-23. The 12 court also finds (for settlement purposes only) that questions of law or fact common to class 13 members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and a class action is 14 superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy. See 15 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3); 11/18/14 Order, ECF No. 269 at 24-32.

16 The court thus certifies the class for settlement purposes only.

18 3. Class Representative, Class Counsel, and Claims Administrator

19 For the reasons set forth in its class-certification order, the court confirms its prior 20 appointment of 1) the plaintiffs Rosminah Brown, Eric Lohela, and Lauren Crivier as the class 21 representatives and 2) Mark N. Todzo and the Lexington Law Group as class counsel. See Fed. R.
22 Civ. P. 23(a) & (g)(1); 11/18//14 Order, ECF No. 269 at 21-22. The court confirms its prior 23 designation of the Heffler Claims Group as the claims administrator.
24

25 4. Notice

26 As described above, the claims administrator provided notice to the members of the class in 27 the form that the court had approved. The notice met all legal requisites: it was the best notice 28 practicable, satisfied the notice requirements of Rule 23, adequately advised class members of

1 their rights under the settlement agreement, met the requirements of due process, and complied 2 with the court's order regarding notice.

3 4 5. Compliance with the Class Action Fairness Act

5 On October 2, 2015, as required by the notice plan, the claims administrator provided notice 6 of the settlement and other information showing compliance with the Class Action Fairness Act of 7 2005, 28 U.S.C. § 1715, to the appropriate federal and state officials within ten days after the 8 parties filed their settlement agreement with the court. (Settlement Agreement, Ex. D; Rapazzini 9 Decl., ECF No. 367-6, ¶ 4.) The notice met the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 1715 and was made 10 more than 90 days before the final approval hearing as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1715.

11 12 6. Approval of Settlement

13 Settlement is a strongly favored method for resolving disputes, particularly “where complex 14 class action litigation is concerned.” Class Plaintiffs v. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1276 (9th 15 Cir. 1992); see, e.g., In re Pac. Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 378 (9th Cir. 1995). A court may 16 approve a proposed class-action settlement only “after a hearing and on finding that it is fair, 17 reasonable, and adequate.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2). The court need not ask whether the proposed 18 settlement is ideal or the best possible; it determines only whether the settlement is fair, free of 19 collusion, and consistent with the named plaintiffs' fiduciary obligations to the class. See Hanlon
20 v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026-27 (9th Cir. 1998). In Hanlon, the Ninth Circuit identified 21 factors relevant to assessing a settlement proposal: 1) the strength of the plaintiff's case; 2) the 22 risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation; 3) the risk of maintaining 23 class-action status throughout trial; 4) the amount offered in settlement; 5) the extent of discovery 24 completed and the stage of the proceeding; 6) the experience and views of counsel; 7) the 25 presence of a government participant; and 8) the reaction of class members to the proposed 26 settlement. Id. at 1026 (citation omitted).

27 “Where a settlement is the product of arms-length negotiations conducted by capable and 28 experienced counsel, the court begins its analysis with a presumption that the settlement is fair

1 and reasonable.” Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co., 2010 WL 1687832, *13 (N.D. Cal.
2 Apr. 22, 2010); see, e.g., Rodriguez v. West Publ’g Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 965 (9th Cir. 2009) (“We 3 put a good deal of stock in the product of an arms-length, non-collusive, negotiated resolution . . .
4 .”); Nat’l Rural Telecomm. Coop. v. DirecTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 528 (C.D. Cal. 2004).

5 The court finds the settlement fair, reasonable, and adequate under the Hanlon factors.

6 First, an evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of the plaintiffs’ case militates in favor of 7 settlement. The plaintiffs represent that they could establish liability and damages on a class-wide 8 basis at trial, but they concede that there is considerable litigation risk going forward. The legal 9 issues regarding the allegedly false organic representations have not been widely litigated, and 10 Hain vigorously disputes that the class could prove liability or establish entitlement to relief.

11 Second, the related point is that the litigation poses risks. The court is familiar with the 12 lengthy, hard-fought nature of the proceeding, and there is a risk of continued, expensive 13 litigation. Hain strenuously opposed class certification and the plaintiffs’ attempts to narrow the 14 disputes through summary-judgment motions. The plaintiffs note the risk of an appeal of the 15 court’s orders. Settlement provides immediate monetary relief for all class members. (The coupon 16 component is does not alter the reasonableness of the settlement: there is an option for a cash-17 only settlement, and the cash-to-coupon $1/$4 ratio for 20% of the cash value gives consumers an 18 opportunity to obtain a higher value in addition to the largely cash payment. Cf. 28 U.S.C. § 19 1712(c).)

20 Third, the settlement appears to treat all class members fairly. Having a claims process is 21 necessary because there is no central repository of information identifying class members. All 22 class members who purchased the Challenged Products between May 2007 and the time when the 23 Challenged Products were relabeled or reformulated (January 30, 2011, for the JASON® products 24 and May 11, 2011, for the Avalon Organics® products) may apply for the monetary relief 25 provided by the settlement.

26 Finally, the settlement is the product of serious, non-collusive, arm’s-length negotiations and 27 was reached after an extensive mediation process, including the final mediation with Magistrate 28 Judge Spero.

1 In sum, the court finds that viewed as a whole, the proposed settlement is sufficiently “fair, 2 adequate, and reasonable” that preliminary approval of the settlement is warranted. See Officers
3 for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm’n of the City and Cty. of San Francisco, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th 4 Cir. 1982). The court thus approves the settlement.

5 6 7. Cy Pres Award

7 If any of the $7.5 million remains in the fund after paying all claims, service awards, and fees
8 and costs, the money will be donated cy pres, in equal amounts, to the California Consumer 9 Protection Foundation and the Jesse Smith Noyes Foundation. (Todzo Decl., ECF No. 355-1, ¶ 10 14.) The foundations will solicit requests for proposals (“RFPs”) from non-profit organizations 11 for proposals to benefit class members on consumer education regarding advertising relating to 12 organic products. (Id.) This distribution accounts for and has a substantial nexus to the nature of 13 the lawsuit, the objectives of the statutes, and the interests of the silent class members. See Lane v.
14 Facebook, Inc., 696 F.3d 811, 819-822 (9th Cir. 2012); Nachshin v. AOL, LLC, 663 F.3d 1034, 15 1038-41 (9th Cir. 2011).

16 17 8. Attorney’s Fees

18 Class counsel asks for $3.541 million in attorney’s fees (roughly a million dollars less than the 19 lodestar) and litigation expenses of $459,000 for a total of $4 million in fees and costs. (Motion, 20 ECF No. 362 at 7.) The settlement agreement provides that “Any award of attorneys’ fees and 21 expenses to Class Counsel must be approved by the Court as set forth herein.” (Settlement 22 Agreement, ECF No. 358-3 at 24.) It also states, “Class Counsel shall make an award for 23 attorneys’ fees and expenses of up to $4,000,000 for the Action and the Crivier Action. Class 24 Counsel’s application for attorneys’ fees and expenses shall be made in accordance with COPA, 25 the CLRA, and Cal. Code of Civil Procedure 1021.5.” (Id.)

26 Rule 23(h) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides: “In a certified class action, the 27 court may award reasonable attorney’s fees and nontaxable costs that are authorized by law or by 28 the parties’ agreement.” Fee provisions included in proposed class-action settlements must be 1 reasonable. See In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 941 (9th Cir. 2011).

2 The court is not bound by the parties' settlement agreement as to the amount of attorney's fees.
3 See id. at 942-43. The Ninth Circuit has instructed district courts to review class fee awards with 4 special rigor:

5 Because in common fund cases the relationship between plaintiffs and their attorneys 6 turns adversarial at the fee-setting stage, courts have stressed that when awarding 7 attorneys' fees from a common fund, the district court must assume the role of fiduciary for the class plaintiffs. Accordingly, fee applications must be closely scrutinized. Rubber-

8 Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1052 (9th Cir. 2002) (quotation omitted).

9 When counsel recovers a common fund that confers a "substantial benefit" on a class of 10 beneficiaries, counsel is "entitled to recover their attorney's fees from the fund." See Fischel v.
11 Equitable Life Assurance Soc'y of the U.S., 307 F.3d 997, 1006 (9th Cir. 2002). As the settlement 12 agreement sets forth, California fee-shifting statutes – the COPA, the CLRA, and California Code 13 of Civil Procedure 1021.5 – also authorize the award of fees. When a fee-shifting statute applies, 14 courts may award fees on the lodestar method. See California Practice Guide: Federal Civil 15 Procedure Before Trial § 10:870 (Rutter Group 2015) (collecting cases); see PLCM Grp. v.
16 Drexler, 997 P.2d 511, 518 (Cal. 2000) (fee-setting inquiry under California law ordinarily begins 17 with the lodestar); Serrano v. Priest, 569 P.2d 1303, 1316 n.23 (Cal. 1977). In common-fund 18 cases, courts may calculate a fee award under either the "lodestar" or "percentage of the fund" 19 method. See Fischel, 307 F.3d at 1006; Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029.

20 Where the settlement involves a common fund, courts typically award attorney's fees based 21 on a percentage of the total settlement. The Ninth Circuit has established a "benchmark" that fees 22 should equal 25% of the settlement, although courts diverge from the benchmark based on a 23 variety of factors, including "the results obtained, risk undertaken by counsel, complexity of the 24 issues, length of the professional relationship, the market rate, and awards in similar cases."

28 Mexican Workers v. Arizona Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1311 (9th Cir. 1990).

1 When determining the value of a settlement, courts consider the monetary and non-monetary 2 benefits that the settlement confers. See, e.g., Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 972-74 (9th Cir.
3 2003); Pokorny v. Quixtar, Inc., 2013 WL 3790896, *1 (N.D. Cal. July 18, 2013) (“The court may 4 properly consider the value of injunctive relief obtained as a result of settlement in determining 5 the appropriate fee.”); In re Netflix Privacy Litig., 2013 WL 1120801, *7 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 6 2013) (settlement value “includes the size of the cash distribution, the cy pres method of 7 distribution, and the injunctive relief”).

8 Finally, Ninth Circuit precedent requires courts to award class counsel fees based on the total 9 benefits being made available to class members rather than the actual amount that is ultimately 10 claimed. Young v. Polo Retail, LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27269, *23 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 28, 2007)
11 (citing Williams v. MGM-Pathe Commc’ns Co., 129 F.3d 1026 (9th Cir. 1997) (“district court 12 abused its discretion in basing attorney fee award on actual distribution to class” instead of 13 amount being made available) (quoted language from Young)).

14 If the court applies the percentage method, it then typically roughly calculates the lodestar as a 15 “cross-check to assess the reasonableness of the percentage award.” See, e.g., Weeks v. Kellogg 16 Co., 2013 WL 6531177, *25 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 23, 2013); see also Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 17 48-49 (1977); Fed-Mart Corp. v. Pell Enters., 111 Cal. App. 3d 215, 226-27 (1980); Melnyk v.
18 Robledo, 64 Cal. App. 3d 618, 624 (1976); Clejan v. Reisman, 5 Cal. App. 3d 224, 241 (1970).
19 “The lodestar . . . is produced by multiplying the number of hours reasonably expended by 20 counsel by a reasonable hourly rate.” Lealao v. Beneficial California, Inc., 82 Cal. App. 4th 19, 21 26 (2000). Once the court has fixed the lodestar, it may increase or decrease that amount by 22 applying a positive or negative “multiplier to take into account a variety of other factors, 23 including the quality of the representation, the novelty and complexity of the issues, the results 24 obtained, and the contingent risk presented.” Id.

25 Class counsel also are entitled to reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses. Fed.
26 R. Civ. P. 23(h); see Harris v. Marhoefer, 24 F.3d 16, 19 (9th Cir. 1994) (attorneys may recover 27 reasonable expenses that would typically be billed to paying clients in non-contingency matters.); 28 Van Vranken v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 901 F. Supp. 294, 299 (N.D. Cal. 1995) (approving

1 reasonable costs in class action settlement). Costs compensable under Rule 23(h) include 2 “nontaxable costs that are authorized by law or by the parties’ agreement.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h).

3 Based on the declarations submitted by the plaintiffs’ counsel, the court finds that the lodestar 4 is at least $4.51 million with an estimated lodestar through final distribution of $4.54 million.
5 (See Todzo Decl., ECF No. 362-1, ¶¶ 29-30.) For all the reasons cited by the plaintiffs, the billing 6 rates are within normal and customary ranges for timekeepers with similar qualifications and 7 experience in the San Francisco market. The rates counsel used are appropriate given the deferred 8 and contingent nature of counsel’s compensation. See LeBlanc-Sternberg v. Fletcher, 143 F.3d 9 748, 764 (2nd Cir. 1998) (“[C]urrent rates, rather than historical rates, should be applied in order
10 to compensate for the delay in payment”) (citing Missouri v. Jenkins, 491 U.S. 274, 283-84 11 (1989)); In re Washington Pub. Power Supply Sys. Secs. Litig., 19 F.3d 1291, 1305 (9th Cir. 1994) 12 (“The district court has discretion to compensate delay in payment in one of two ways: (1) by 13 applying the attorneys’ current rates to all hours billed during the course of litigation; or (2) by 14 using the attorneys’ historical rates and adding a prime rate enhancement.”). Counsel also 15 submitted a sufficient breakdown of the attorneys’ billing efforts for the court to reach its 16 conclusion about the lodestar.

17 Thus, the fees that the plaintiffs request ($3.51 million) are supported by the lodestar (in 18 excess of $4.5 million). The fee request exceeds the 25% benchmark under the “percentage of the 19 fund” approach. See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029 (25% is a benchmark in common-fund cases). The 20 plaintiffs suggest that the common-fund approach “is of questionable validity in California.”
21 (See Motion, ECF No. 362 at 21, quoting Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 56 Cal. Rptr. 2d 483 (Cal.
22 App. 1996) and Lealoe v. Beneficial California, Inc., 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 797, 804 (Cal. App. 2000).)
23 The court does not need to resolve the issue because it is undisputed that it can apply the lodestar.
24 See Bluetooth Headset, 654 F.3d at 941; Relante v. Viator Inc., No. 12-cv-05868-JD, 2015 WL
25 3613713, at *1 (N.D. Cal. June 9, 2015); Lilly v. Jamba Juice Co., No. 13-cv-02998-JST, 2015
26 WL 2062858, at *5 (N.D. Cal. May 4, 2015). It does so here and awards the fees that the plaintiffs 27 request.
28

1 The fee award is appropriate based on counsel's efforts and the substantial benefits to the 2 class. As discussed earlier in this order, the litigation has been protracted, contentious, and 3 intensely fought. (See supra Statement, 1. The lawsuit to date; Analysis, 6. Approval of 4 Settlement.) The settlement is fair and gives good cash value to the class members, and the 5 coupon portion enhances the value of the largely cash payment. (See supra Analysis, 6. Approval 6 of Settlement.) Based on the plaintiffs' calculation, 100% disgorgement of profits is about $8.2 7 million. (See Motion, ECF No. 362 at 18.) The court is familiar with the damages issues; this 8 figure is disputed. Regardless, applying litigation-risk discounts alone (as the plaintiffs point out) 9 results in a discount to something approximating the settlement of the case. (See id.)

10 As in Wren, the defendants mounted a "particularly aggressive defense" over the course of 11 years. Wren v. RGIS Inventory Specialists, No. C-06-05778 JCS, 2011 WL 1230826, at * 16 (N.D.
12 Cal. Apr. 1, 2011). The fee award here (discounted from the lodestar by more than $1 million) is 13 appropriate and reflects counsel's exceptional efforts. See id. The record reflects the court's view 14 of the plaintiffs' counsel (and indeed, the defendant's counsel too): all did an extraordinary job.
15 The case was not just litigated intensively, it was litigated well.

16 The court also finds the lodestar approach appropriate under CAFA. See 28 U.S.C. § 1712(b).

17 The court also finds the expenses to be appropriate and supported by the submissions.
18 approves and awards the requested litigation expenses. This results in total award for fees and 19 costs of $4 million.

20 The court also approves and authorizes payment of the actual claims-administration expenses 21 in an amount not to exceed $650,000. (As discussed in the Statement, the expenses were 22 estimated at $585,000 and capped at $650,000 and are to be paid from the $7.5-million fund.) 23

24 9. Service Awards

25 The proposed awards to the class representatives Rosminah Brown and Eric Lohela are 26 $7,500 each. (Motion, ECF No. 362 at 31.) The plaintiffs do not seek an award for Lauren 27 Crivier. (Id.)
28

1 District courts must evaluate proposed incentive awards individually, using relevant factors 2 that include “the actions the plaintiff has taken to protect the interests of the class, the degree to 3 which the class has benefitted from those actions, . . . [and] the amount of time and effort the 4 plaintiff expended in pursuing the litigation.” Staton, 327 F.3d at 977. “Such awards are 5 discretionary . . . and are intended to compensate class representatives for work done on behalf of 6 the class, to make up for financial or reputational risk undertaken in bringing the action, and,
7 sometimes, to recognize their willingness to act as a private attorney general.” Rodriguez, 563 8 F.3d at 958-59 (citation omitted). The Ninth Circuit has “noted that in some cases incentive 9 awards may be proper but [has] cautioned that awarding them should not become routine 10 practice.” Radcliffe v. Experian Info. Solutions, 715 F.3d 1157, 1163 (9th Cir. 2013) (discussing 11 Staton, 327 F.3d at 975-78). The Ninth Circuit also has emphasized that district courts “must be 12 vigilant in scrutinizing all incentive awards to determine whether they destroy the adequacy of the 13 class representatives.” Id. at 1164.

14 Counsel and the named plaintiffs described sufficiently the efforts of the named plaintiffs, 15 including consulting with counsel, attending mediations, being deposed, and otherwise 16 participating in the litigation. (See Motion, ECF No. 362 at 32, summarizing declarations.) The 17 court approves the award.

18 19 10. Objectors

20 The claims administrator received no objections. (See Rapazzini Decl., ECF No. 367-6, ¶ 12.)
21 Four people filed objections with the court: Steven Helfand, Sheri Lee Williams, Dawn Weaver, 22 and Patrick Sweeney. (See ECF Nos. 361, 363, 364, 365.) None of these people appeared at the 23 hearing. Collectively, their objections are as follows: 1) the class notice is misleading on grounds 24 that include a) its failure to describe rights released and remedies to redress the rights and b) the 25 inadequacy of the website; 2) the settlement is inadequate because it does not have injunctive 26 relief and the coupon relief is inappropriate; 3) the cy pres award is inappropriate; 4) the release is 27 overbroad because it includes negligence, does not exclude claims for personal injury, and waives 28 future claims; 5) the service awards are inappropriate or excessive; 6) the attorney’s fees are

1 excessive, can be paid before the resolution of any appeal, and are (essentially) not objected to by 2 the defendant; 7) the court should delay settlement approval until a) the Ninth Circuit decides 3 three cases (Brazil v. Dole Food Co., No. 15-1748; Jones v. ConAgra, No. 14-16327; and Kosta v.
4 Del Monte Foods, Inc., No. 15-16974) and b) the California Supreme Court resolves (in Laffitte v.
5 Robert Half Int'l, Inc.) whether the lodestar approach or the percent-of-common-fund approach 6 applies; and 8) the claims-administration process does not reliably ensure that “the claims process 7 actually delivers what was promised.” (See ECF Nos. 361 at 2-5, 363, 364, and 365 at 2.)

8 Four preliminary, but important, observations should be made about the objectors. First, they 9 are few in number. Against the approximately 22,500 claims that class members filed by the 10 claims deadline, the settlement prompted four objections. (Rapazzini Decl. – ECF No. 367-6 at 16 11 [¶ 14].) That is less than 0.02% of the participating class. No one has asked to be excluded from 12 the class. (Id. at 5 [¶ 12].) A “relatively small number” of objections is “an indication of a 13 settlement’s fairness.” Brotherton v. Cleveland, 141 F. Supp. 2d 894, 906 (S.D. Ohio 2001); cf.
14 Staton, 327 F.3d at 959 (court should consider “reaction of the class members to the proposed 15 settlement”). Second, as the plaintiffs have adequately shown, these are “professional” objectors; 16 courts across the country (including in the Ninth Circuit) have repeatedly turned aside their 17 efforts to upend settlements. (Todzo Decl. – ECF No. 367-1 at 4-5 [¶ 10]) (citing, inter alia, In re
18 NVIDIA GPU Litig., 539 F. App’x 822 (9th Cir. 2013), Howerton v. Cargill, Inc., 2014 WL
19 6976041, *3 (D. Haw. Dec. 8, 2014), Roberts v. Electrolux Home Products, Inc., 2014 WL
20 4568632, *12 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2014), and Dennis v. Kellogg Co., 2013 WL 6055326, *4 n. 2 21 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 4, 2013)). Third, one of the objectors, Mr. Helfand, has provided no proof that he 22 is a class member. He has not submitted a claim. (See Rapazzini Decl. – ECF No. 367-6 at 5-6 23 [¶ 13].) His objection does not provide the information that might substitute for a claim; he 24 neither provides receipts nor identifies the products he claims to have bought. (ECF No. 361.)
25 The court could therefore almost certainly strike his objection. E.g., In re Hydroxycut Mktg. & 26 Sales Practices Litig., 2013 WL 7985367, *2 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 17, 2013). Fourth, it is questionable 27 whether these objectors have standing to challenge the settlement. To take just one aspect of the 28 settlement: None of the objectors contends that the monetary relief is insufficient to compensate

1 him or her — or any class member — for harm caused by Hain’s alleged wrongs. (See ECF Nos.
2 361, 363-65, passim.) It is consequently hard to see how they are aggrieved by this main 3 settlement element. But, if they are not “aggrieved,” they may lack standing to object to this part 4 of the settlement. See In re First Capital Holdings Corp. Fin. Prods. Secs. Litig., 33 F.3d 29 (9th 5 Cir. 1994). With that essential backdrop, it is not clear how changing other aspects of the 6 settlement, such as the cy pres term or the fee award, would “actually benefit” these objectors — 7 so that, again, they apparently lack standing. See Glasser v. Volkswagen of Am., Inc., 645 F.3d 8 1084, 1088 (9th Cir. 2011) (class member “lacks standing” to challenge settlement unless 9 proposed change would “actually benefit” her).

10 The court nevertheless considers the objectors’ various points. None warrants rejecting the 11 settlement. First, the notice is factually true and is not misleading. It accurately describes the 12 scope of the release.

13 Second, as to the coupon component, there is an option for a cash-only settlement. The 14 coupons (for 20% of the cash value) are an option that allow consumers to obtain a higher value 15 in addition to the largely cash settlement. (See supra, Analysis.) There is no injunctive relief 16 because — as the course of this litigation shows — cosmetics in both lines underwent 17 reformulations during the class period and relabeling that (among other things) removed the 18 “Pure, Natural, and Organic” tagline from the Jason products. (See Summary-Judgment Order, 19 ECF No. 340 at 2; Amended Class-Certification Order, ECF No. 269.)

20 Third, the cy pres award is appropriate (as discussed above). The objectors’ arguments do not 21 change this conclusion.

22 Fourth, the release is limited to claims at issue in the case and does not (for example) include 23 personal-injury claims.

24 Fifth, the incentive awards here are permitted, reasonable, and do not render the settlement 25 unfair or unreasonable.

26 Sixth, the court made a thorough review of the request for attorney’s fees and found them 27 reasonable. Indeed, the settlement agreement requires the court’s approval of the fees. The 28 objections do not preclude approval of the settlement. The plaintiffs’ counsel has the option of 1 being paid fees before resolution of any appeal; they also must return them immediately if the 2 settlement is overturned on appeal. (Settlement Agreement § VII.A.4.) Courts in this district 3 approve these “quick pay” provisions routinely. See In re TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) Antitrust Litig., 4 No. MDL 3:07-md-1827 SI, 2011 WL 7575004, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 27, 2011) (collecting 5 cases).

6 Seventh, the court sees no grounds to delay based on the pending cases. In particular, the 7 court rejected the defendant’s arguments about ascertainability, and delay pending the Ninth 8 Circuit appeals seemingly would hurt (not help) the plaintiffs if it reached a result contrary to the 9 court’s rulings regarding class certification. The court also considered the common-fund approach 10 but ultimately decided to award fees based on its consideration of the lodestar.

11 Finally, the claims process is robust and is designed to deliver the settlement amounts to class 12 members.

14 11. Other Orders

15 1. This order and judgment incorporates by reference the definitions in the Stipulation of 16 Settlement dated in September 2015 (“Stipulation”), e-filed at ECF No. 358-3, and attached as 17 Exhibit A, and all capitalized terms used herein shall have the same meanings as set forth in the 18 Stipulation unless set forth differently herein. The terms of the Stipulation are fully incorporated 19 in this Judgment as if set forth fully here.

20 2. As set forth above, the Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action and all 21 Parties to the action. No Class Member has filed a request to be excluded from the class.
22 (Rapazzini Decl. – ECF No. 367-6 at 5 [¶ 11].)

23 3. As set forth above, and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(3), the court 24 amends the classes previously certified by order dated November 14, 2014, by certifying the 25 following Class:

26 All individuals who purchased the Challenged Products in California within the Class Period.
27 Specifically excluded from the Class are (a) Defendant, (b) the officers, directors, or 28 employees of Defendant and their immediate family members, (c) any entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest, (d) any affiliate, legal representative, heir, or assign of Defendant, (e) all federal court judges who have presided over this Action and their

1 immediate family members, (f) all persons who submit a valid request for exclusion from the 2 Class, and (g) those who purchased the Challenged Products for the purpose of resale.

3 4. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(c)(3), all such persons or entities who 4 satisfy the Class definition above, except those Class Members who timely and validly excluded 5 themselves from the Class, are Class Members bound by this Judgment.

6 5. Persons or entities that filed timely exclusion requests are not bound by this Judgment or 7 the terms of the Stipulation and may pursue their own individual remedies against the Defendant.
8 However, such excluded parties are not entitled to any rights or benefits provided to Class 9 Members by the terms of the Stipulation. Again, in this case, no one has requested exclusion from 10 the Class.

11 6. Upon the Effective Date, the named plaintiffs and each Class Member shall be deemed to 12 have, and by operation of this Final Settlement Order and Judgment shall have released, waived, 13 and discharged with prejudice the Defendant from any and all Released Claims as set forth in 14 Section IV of the Stipulation.

15 7. All Class Members who have not timely and validly submitted requests for exclusion are 16 bound by this Judgment and by the terms of the Stipulation.

17 8. The court awards a service award of 7,500 each to the named plaintiffs Rosminah Brown 18 and Eric Lohela.

19 9. The court awards fees and costs totaling $4 million to the plaintiffs' counsel.

20 10. The court dismisses the case with prejudice, and the Released Parties are hereby released 21 from all further liability for the Released Claims.

22 11. Without affecting the finality of this judgment, the court reserves jurisdiction over the 23 implementation, administration, and enforcement of this Judgment and the Stipulation, and all 24 matters ancillary thereto.

25 12. The court finds that no reason exists for delay in ordering final judgment pursuant to 26 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(b) and thus directs the entry of judgment forthwith.

27 13. The court authorizes the Parties, without the need for further approval from the court, to 28 agree to and adopt such modifications and expansions of the Stipulation, including without

1 limitation the claim review procedure, that are consistent with this Judgment and do not limit the 2 rights of Class Members under the Stipulation.

CONCLUSION

This order amends the court’s previous order of February 17, 2016. (See ECF No. 372.) The previous order is withdrawn and this order is substituted nunc pro tunc in its place. The amendments corrected one typographical error and two erroneous references to an exhibit. This amendment makes no substantive change in the previous order. This disposes of ECF Nos. 362, 367.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
