1 INTRODUCTION

2 On November 5, 2015, the Court preliminarily approved the Class Action Settlement
3 Agreement entered into between Plaintiffs Rebekah Baharestan and Jena McIntyre (“Plaintiffs”)
4 and Venus Laboratories, Inc., d/b/a Earth Friendly Products, Inc.’s, (“Venus” or “Defendant”).¹
5 (ECF No. 23).

6 On January 17, 2016, Steven Helfand filed an objection to the Settlement (“Helfand
7 Objection”) (ECF No. 30). On March 5, 2016, Mr. Helfand withdrew his objection for lack of 8 standing. (ECF No. 32.).

9 Although there are no longer any objections before the Court, Mr. Helfand raised a 10 number of issues regarding the settlement prior to withdrawing his objection. For the reasons set 11 forth below, the issues raised in the Helfand Objection are without merit.

12 DISCUSSION

13 I. THE SETTLEMENT IS FAIR, REASONABLE, AND ADEQUATE

14 As detailed above, the Helfand Objection was withdrawn for lack of standing. However,
15 if the Court does consider the merits of the objection, for the reasons set forth below, the Court 16 should find they fail to raise any legitimate issues with the settlement.

17 A. The Class consists of those with economic injury

18 Objector Helfand opens his objection with an act of willful ignorance. He provides only a 19 limited quote—taken entirely out of context—as a means to justify his position. Specifically,
20 Helfand wonders aloud whether the term “affected,” as used in Class Counsel’s declaration,
21 refers to those suffering from physical injury or only those who were misled, and how this relates 22 to the class definition of those who “purchased” the Products. (See Helfand Objection at 3;
23 Declaration of Mark N. Todzo in Support of Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action
24 Settlement Agreement (“Todzo Prelim. Decl.”) (ECF No. 15-1, ¶ 11).)

25
26 ¹ Unless otherwise noted, all capitalized terms have the same meaning as in the Class Settlement
27 Agreement (“Settlement”). (ECF No. 15-2.)
28

1 At all points in this litigation and settlement process, including the Settlement Agreement
 2 itself, Class Counsel has made abundantly clear the Settlement provides relief for Defendant's
 3 allegedly misleading labeling. The sentence preceding Helfand's partial quote states, "[b]y
 4 settling now, Settlement Class Members secure meaningful monetary compensation, plus the 5 certainty of knowing Venus' alleged deceptive labeling and marketing practices will 6 cease" (Todzo Prelim. Decl. ¶ 11) (emphasis added); see (Settlement § 7.1) ("The Released
 7 Claims shall be construed as broadly as possible to effect complete finality over this litigation
 8 involving the advertising, labeling, and marketing of the Earth Friendly Products . . .").² Placed
 9 in its full context, the term "affected" refers to those who were deceived by Defendant's labeling
 10 and marketing practices.

11 Further, at multiple points during this litigation and settlement process, Class Counsel
 12 made clear the injury sought to be remedied is economic in nature.³ By way of example, in the 13 paragraph following Helfand's partial quote, Class Counsel discussed class-wide damage
 14 models, specifically emphasizing the "premium" charged for "natural" and "organic" labeling.

15
 16 ² Other filings in this action are replete with discussions of Defendant's misleading and deceptive
 17 marketing. See Class Action Complaint ("Compl.") (ECF No. 1 ¶¶ 2, 11, 12, 14, 16, 18, 19, 36, 18 44, 45, 48, 52, 56, 63, 64, 66, 70(c), 98, 110, 122, 125, 127); Memorandum of Points and 19 Authorities in Support of Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement
 20 Agreement ("Mem. Prelim. App.") (ECF No. 15 at 1-5, 15-18); Plaintiffs' Unopposed Motion
 21 for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and Request for Entry of Final Judgment and 22 Memorandum of Point and Authorities ("Mem. Final App.") (ECF No. 28 at 2, 9, 19, 21);
 23 Declaration of Melissa W. Wolchansky in Support of Plaintiffs' Unopposed Motion for Final 24 Approval of Class Action Settlement and Request for Entry of Final Judgment ("Wolchansky
 25 Decl.") (ECF No. 28-1 ¶¶ 5, 7, 30); Notice of Motion and Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees, 26 and Reimbursement for Costs and Service Awards, Memorandum of Points and Authorities in 27 Support Thereof ("Fee Mem.") (ECF No. 29 at 2, 3, 6, 13, 15); Declaration of Mark N. Todzo in 28 Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees, and Reimbursement for Costs and Service Awards ("Todzo Fee Decl.") (ECF No. 29-1 ¶¶ 2, 5, 7, 16); Settlement §§ 1.1, 1.2, 1.9, 4.8, 7.1.

³ Other filings in this action are replete with discussions of Defendant's marketing causing economic injury. See Compl. ¶¶ 6, 8, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 48, 49, 51, 53, 70(c), 73, 74, 77, 112, 114, 124, 125, 126; Mem. Prelim. App. at 1, 3, 12; Mem. Final App. at 12; Wolchansky
 Decl. at 5-7.

1 (Todzo Prelim. Decl. ¶ 12; see Mem. Prelim. App. at 1 (“The Settlement remedies Plaintiffs’
 2 concerns on behalf of purchasers of the Earth Friendly Products nationwide, who allegedly paid
 3 a premium for these Products over comparable products that did not purport to be natural.”))
 4 Thus, when the documents are examined in their entirety, the meaning of the term “affected”
 5 becomes clear.

6 Since the injury is economic, it occurred upon purchase, and thus the class encompasses
 7 “all persons” who purchased the product. Helfand failed to provide any proof for the assertions
 8 he makes, and therefore failed to meet his burden. In re Google Referrer Header Privacy Litig., 87
 9 F. Supp. 3d 1122, 1137 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (citing United States v. Oregon, 913 F.2d 576, 581 (9th
 10 Cir. 1990)) (“[O]bjectors to a class action settlement bear the burden of proving any assertions 11 they raise challenging the reasonableness of a class action settlement.”).

12 B. Class Counsel has been consistent in discussing the potential class size

13 It is important to note that courts routinely accept class size estimates, particularly in 14 cases where the number of class members is not readily knowable. See, e.g., Perkins v. LinkedIn
 15 Corp., No. 13-CV-04303-LHK, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18649, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 16, 2016)
 16 (granting final approval of a settlement, with an estimated class size, over a Helfand objection);
 17 Aboudi v. T-Mobile USA, Inc. (NLS), No. No.: 12cv2169 BTM(NLS), 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 18 109054, at *15 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 18, 2015) (granting final approval with an estimated class size);
 19 Moore v. PetSmart, Inc., No. 5:12-cv-03577-EJD, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 102804, at *9 (N.D.
 20 Cal. Aug. 4, 2015) (granting final approval despite underestimating the class size by over 19,000
 21 individuals); Rosales v. El Rancho Farms, No. Nos.: 1:12-cv-01934-AWI-JLT, 2015 U.S. Dist.
 22 LEXIS 95756, at *9-10 (E.D. Cal. July 21, 2015) (granting final approval of the settlement 23 despite changes in the estimated class size); Schiller v. David’s Bridal, Inc., No. 1:10-cv-00616-24 AWI-SKO, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 80776, at n.3 (E.D. Cal. June 11, 2012) (granting final 25 approval of the settlement despite changes in the estimated size of the class to the number of 26 claimants).

27 In his objection, Helfand questions the size of the class and the best methods for 28

1 notification. However, the record is clear regarding the source of the estimated class size: the 2 estimate was extrapolated “from sales information provided by Venus in settlement discussions.”
3 (Dahl Prelim. Decl. ¶ 11.)

4 Helfand’s suggestion that Class Counsel “simply depose Walmart, Mollie Stone, Whole
5 Foods and Costco” evidences a lack of appreciation for the complexity associated with obtaining
6 such confidential information from a non-party to a litigation. (See Helfand Objection at 6.)
7 Furthermore, Class Counsel negotiated a reasonable settlement reasonably relying upon 8 discovery produced in the course of pre-litigation discussions.

9 In addition to mischaracterizing the source of Class Counsel’s estimate of the class size,
10 Helfand also questions the estimate of the Claims Administrator. (Helfand Objection at 5.)
11 However, Helfand failed to acknowledge (or perhaps read plainly) that the Claim’s
12 Administrator’s estimate is based on national sales data for a broad category of products, and not 13 sales data specific to the Products. See Affidavit of Jeffrey D. Dahl with Respect to Settlement
14 Notice Plan (“Dahl Aff.”) (ECF No. 15-2, Ex. 1, Ex. C, ¶ 11) (“However, estimates from GfK
15 MRI indicate that the total buying population for ‘green’ or ‘natural’ household items defined to 16 include surface cleaners & laundry detergent is 15.08 million U.S. adults”). Thus, the 15.08
17 million estimated class size described the product category, and never purported to be anything 18 different.

19 Finally, Helfand questions why individual notice was not sent. (Helfand Objection at 6.)
20 Helfand is, again, incorrect. As detailed in the Declaration of Jeffrey D. Dahl with Respect to 21 Implementation of the Notice Plan and Performance of the Required Settlement Administration
22 Activities (“Dahl Decl.”) (ECF No. 28-2 ¶ 11), on November 25, 2015, 7,991 individual Notice
23 Packets were sent to those Settlement Class Members for whom mailing addresses were known..

24 Additionally, because not every Class Member’s mailing address was known,
25 publication notice was appropriate. Torres v. Pet Extreme, No. 1:13-cv-01778-LJO-SAB, 2015
26 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5136, at *10 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 15, 2015) (“Notice by publication has been found 27 to be adequate where identification of individual class members is not possible through 28

1 reasonable effort.”); see In re Toys “R” Us-Del., Inc. Fair & Accurate Credit Transactions Act
 2 Litig., 295 F.R.D. 438, 449 (C.D. Cal. 2014) (“When the court certifies a nationwide class of 3 persons whose addresses are unknown, notice by publication is reasonable”).

4 Publication notice was provided to the Class via a number of techniques, including:

- 5 • using a web-based notice campaign with banner-style notices on targeted websites
 6 with a link to a Settlement Website;
- 7 • employing social media to target Settlement Class Members;
- 8 • publishing a national press release for the Settlement via PR Newswire;
- 9 • establishing a toll-free Settlement helpline; and
- 10 • creating a Settlement website.

11 (See Dahl Decl. ¶¶ 9-26.) These publication techniques are in line with similar notice programs
 12 which have met due process and Rule 23 requirements. See, e.g., Gaudin v. Saxon Mortg. Servs., 13 No. 11-cv-01663-JST, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 95720, at *19-20 (N.D. Cal. July 21, 2015); In re
 14 Toys “R” Us, 295 F.R.D. at 449 (C.D. Cal. 2014); Beck-Ellman v. Kaz USA, Inc., No. 3:10-CV-
 15 02134-H-DHB, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 60182, at *21-23 (S.D. Cal. January 7, 2013); Nigh ,
 16 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 161215; In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1080
 17 (N.D. Cal. 2007).

18 Accordingly, the class size was appropriately calculated, and the Settlement provided 19 sufficient notice to meet the due process requirements.

20 C. Class Counsel had sufficient information to assess the claims and 21 possible damages

22 Helfand’s third objection relates to his conjecture regarding the lack of information on 23 which Class Counsel based their assessment to settle. (Id.) He accuses Class Counsel of ignoring 24 key information such as product sales, revenue generated, and scientific evidence. (Id.)

25 Despite Helfand’s hollow protestations, formal discovery is unnecessary “where there has 26 been sufficient information sharing and cooperation in providing access to necessary data[.]”
 27 Misra v. Decision One Mortg. Co., No. SA CV 07-0994 DOC (RCx), 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS

1 119468, at *23 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 2, 2014). “What is required is that ‘sufficient discovery has been 2 taken or investigation completed to enable counsel and the court to act intelligently.’” Barbosa v.
3 Cargill Meat Solutions Corp., 297 F.R.D. 431, 447 (E.D. Cal. 2013) (citing Herbert B. Newberg, 4 Newberg on Class Actions § 11.41 (4th ed. 2013)).

5 Class Counsel, in fact, obtained discovery necessary to allow them to act informedly in 6 the best interest of the Class. Class Counsel detailed their investigation and review of materials
7 in their Motion for Final Approval. (See Mem. Final. App. at 14.) Further, Class Counsel 8 discussed these efforts in greater detail in their supporting documents; including their 9 examination of “information concerning marketing, label design, product formulation,
10 manufacturing processes for the product ingredients, and information regarding Venus’ pricing
11 and sales.” (Wolchansky Decl. ¶ 10.) Additionally, Class Counsel explained they “examined the 12 chemical structure and production process of 50 different ingredients, found in the Earth Friendly
13 Products—as available in patent applications, scientific literature, and other publically available
14 sources.” (Id. ¶ 6.)

15 Again, Helfand failed to provide any proof for the assertions he raises, and therefore 16 failed to meet his burden. In re Google, 87 F. Supp. 3d at 1137.

17 D. Notice has been adequate and effective, and it affords Class Members
18 due process

19 Helfand next contends that the notice was insufficient to meet due process and Rule 23.
20 (Helfand Objection at 9.) Specifically, he argues that because the notice did not mention release
21 of personal injury claims it was misleading. (Id.)

22 In Brown, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20118, the court overruled a virtually identical 23 objection lodged by Helfand, finding that a similar release was “limited to claims at issue in the 24 case and [did] not (for example) include personal-injury claims.” Brown, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
25 20118, at *31; see Brown, No. CV 11-03082 LB (ECF No. 355-2, at 15) (releasing claims
26 “arising out of or related to Defendant’s use of the word ‘organic’ or ‘organics’ in connection
27 with the Challenged Products, that were asserted or reasonably could have been asserted in the 28

1 Action by or on behalf of all Releasing Parties,”).

2 Likewise, at no point does Helfand explain where his assertion that the settlement
3 releases personal injury claims comes from. Rather he simply states it as if it is axiomatic. In 4 actuality, the release is limited to claims “arising out of or relating to the allegations in the 5 Complaint and the labels or advertising of any Earth Friendly Products purchased by Plaintiffs 6 and any members of the Settlement Class.” (Settlement, § 2.25).

7 As discussed above, the wrongful conduct this litigation seeks to remedy is the 8 misleading and deceptive labeling of the Products, while the injury sought to be remedied is an 9 economic injury. See supra Part I (A). The causes of action arise from breach of express
10 warranty, California’s Unfair and Deceptive Acts Practices Law, California’s False Advertising
11 Law, California’s Environmental Marketing Claims Act, California’s Organic Product Act, 12 California’s Unfair Competition Law, and Washington’s Consumer Protection Act. (Compl. ¶¶ 13 72-131.) These causes of action are born of the misleading labeling of Defendant’s Products.

14 Plaintiffs have made no effort to recover on behalf of injured Class Members and the 15 Settlement does not release injury claims.

16 To meet the due process requirements, “[t]he notice must explain in easily understood
17 language the nature of the action, definition of the class, class claims, issues and defenses, ability 18 to appear through individual counsel, procedure to request exclusion, and binding nature of a 19 class judgment. Ahdoot v. Babolat VS N. Am., Inc., Nos. CV 13-02823-VAP (VBKx) and CV 13-
20 07898-VAP (VBKx), 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 45551, at *24 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 6, 2015). As 21 personal injury claims are not released, they did not need to be, and should not have been,
22 discussed in the Notice.

23 E. The Attorneys Fees Award is Reasonable

24 Helfand next objects on the grounds the fund is inadequate and the attorneys’ fees are 25 excessive. (Helfand Objection at 10.) In his typical fashion, Helfand makes a number of 26 unsupported blanket assertions. (Id.) For example, he states “[t]he Settlement Agreement offers 27 token injunctive relief,” yet provides no analysis as to why the extensive label changes and 28

1 product reformulations are “token.” (Id.; compare Fee Mem. at 12-13.) Helfand then transitions
2 into a discussion of the attorney fee award, specifically asserting that the fee request by Class
3 Counsel is excessive. (Id. at 11.)

4 In the Ninth Circuit, the guiding principle is that a fee award be “reasonable under the 5 circumstances.” WPPSS, 19 F.3d at 1295. The value of the injunctive relief alone is sufficient to 6 justify the additional 5 or 7.6 percent of the monetary relief above the 25 percent benchmark as 7 an award. Moreover, it is well established that the benchmark percentage should be adjusted, or 8 replaced by a lodestar calculation, when the percentage recovery would be too small in light of 9 the hours devoted to the case or other relevant factors. See Torrissi v. Tucson Elec. Power Co., 8
10 F.3d 1370, 1376 (9th Cir. 1993); Six (6) Mexican Workers v. Ariz. Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 11 1301, 1311 (9th Cir. 1990).

12 There are many common fund cases in this District where the ultimate award exceeds the 13 25 percent benchmark. See In re Omnivision Techs., Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1047 (N.D. Cal.
14 2008) (citing In re Activision Secs. Litig., 723 F. Supp. 1373, 1377 (N.D. Cal. 1989) (“This 15 court’s review of recent reported cases discloses that nearly all common fund awards range
16 around 30%”)); Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050 (awarding attorneys’ fees in the amount of 28 percent
17 of the claim fund); In re Pacific Enterprises Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 379 (9th Cir. 1995)
18 (affirming a fee award equal to 33 percent of the settlement fund); Garner v. State Farm Ins., 19 No. CV 08-1365 CW, 2010 WL 1687829, at *1-2 (N.D. Cal. April 22, 2010) (awarding a 30
20 percent common fund fee); In re Activision Sec. Litig., 723 F. Supp. at 1375 (awarding a 32.8
21 percent common fund fee); Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, Nos. C-96-3008 DLJ et al., 1997
22 WL 450064, at *7 (N.D. Cal. July 18, 1997) (awarding a 33.3 percent fee); In re Heritage Bond
23 Litig., Case Nos. 02-ML-1475 DT et al., 2005 WL 1594403, at *18 n.12 (C.D. Cal. Jun. 10, 24 2005) (noting that more than 200 federal cases have awarded fees higher than 30 percent of the 25 common fund). These cases show that the Court has an abundance of authority to award Class
26 Counsel the requested fees and costs.

27 Class Counsel negotiated a settlement benefit to the Class that would result in an award
28

1 of attorneys' fees and costs of 30% of the total Settlement value. Class Counsel and Venus
 2 worked with the Administrator to craft a notice plan calculated to reach Settlement Class
 3 Members and provided a simple claim filing process. In addition to the reasons set forth above, 4 Helfand wholly ignores the arguments put forward as to why the fee award is reasonable, despite 5 filing his objection two days after Class Counsel filed their Motion for Attorneys' Fees. For the 6 reasons discussed herein and in Class Counsel's Motion for Attorneys' Fees, the requested
 7 amount for attorneys' fees and costs is reasonable.

8 F. The cy pres recipient closely aligns with goals of the action

9 Lastly, Helfand's criticism of the Settlement's cy pres designee, Consumers Union, is 10 unwarranted.⁴ As an initial matter, the settlement fund, inclusive of the $75,000 supplemental 11 payment, was completely exhausted. (See Supplemental Declaration of Jeffery D. Dahl with 12 Respect to Implementation of the Notice Plan and Performance of Required Settlement
 13 Administration Activities (ECF No. 31 ¶ 5.)) As such, any discussion of cy pres is moot.

14 Nevertheless, it is worth noting that the exact same criticism of cy pres by Mr. Helfand, 15 was recently rejected by two different trial courts in the Northern District. In Brown v. Hain, the 16 court flatly rejected his objection, holding "the cy pres award is appropriate (as discussed above).
 17 The objectors' arguments do not change this conclusion." See Brown v. The Hain Celestial Grp.,
 18 Inc., No. CV 11-03082 LB (N.D. Cal. Dec. 23, 2015) 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20118, at *31.

19 Likewise, in Perkins, the court addressed Helfand's First Amendment argument head-on.
 20 The court stated:

21 [Helfand] argues that donating funds to organizations engaged in political 22 advocacy is effectively a compelled political donation in violation of the First 23 Amendment. (citation omitted). [Helfand] points to no authority—case law or 24 otherwise—addressing free speech in the context of a cy pres destitution. (citation omitted). The Court, in its own research, has found none. [Helfand] also fails to 25 ⁴ Objector Helfand submitted near verbatim objections against cy pres recipients in Brown v. The 26 Hain Celestial Grp., Inc., No. CV 11-03082 LB (N.D. Cal. Dec. 23, 2015) (ECF No. 361), and 27 Perkins v. LinkedIn Corp., No. 13-CV-043030 LHK (N.D. Cal. Dec. 11, 2015) (ECF No. 117).

 28

1 explain why a cy pres distribution upon a court order serves as speech by 2 [Helfand]. Given the lack of relevant authority and the fact that courts 3 consistently approve cy pres awards to organizations engaging in advocacy related to the class's claims, the Court declines to find the plan distribution unreasonable based on this objection.

4 Perkins, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18649, at n.9

5 “Appropriate cy pres recipients [in UCL an CLRA actions] are . . . organization
 6 dedicated to protecting consumers from, or redressing injuries caused by, false advertising.”

7 Beck-Ellman v. Kaz USA, Inc., No. 3:10-CV-02134-H-DHB, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 189308, at 8 *22 (S.D. Cal. June 11, 2013) (quoting Dennis v. Kellogg Co., 697 F.3d 858, 865 (9th Cir. 2012).

9 Consumers Union is unquestionably aligned with the consumer protection goals of this 10 litigation. (See Declaration of Elisa Odabashian, attached as Exhibit 1 to the Todzo Supp. Prelim.
 11 Decl. (ECF No. 22-1); see also <http://consumersunion.org/>.) In Beck-Ellman, the court 12 concluded the cy pres recipients, including Consumers Union, “are organizations committed to 13 protecting consumers from false advertising or assisting consumer efforts for redress from false
 14 advertising so as to satisfy the Ninth Circuit standard established in Dennis.” Id. at *30. Indeed,
 15 Consumers Union has been approved by courts as the cy pres recipient in multiple consumer
 16 class action settlements.⁵

 20 false-advertising lawsuits); In re LivingSocial Mktg. & Sales Practice Litig., 298 F.R.D. 1, 13 21 (D.D.C. 2013) (finding interests and activities of Consumers Union were “directly aligned with 22 those advanced” in the lawsuit); see also Final Order and Judgment at ~ 14, In re Aurora Dairy
 23 Corp. Organic Milk Mktg. & Sales Practices Litig., No. 4:08-MD-1907-ERW (E.D. Mo. Feb. 26, 27 products and incorporating terms of Settlement Agreement, ECF No. 37); Order and Final Judgment Approving Class Action Settlement, Awarding Attorneys' Fees and Expenses, and Awarding Class Representative Service Awards at Ex. A, Golloher v. Todd Christopher Int'l Inc.

Dbv Vogue Int'l, No. 3:12-cv-06002-RS (N.D. Cal. Apr. 25, 2014), ECF Nos. 79, 79-1 (alleging false claims of “organic” hair and skin care products); Order Preliminarily Approving Class Settlement Agreement, Conditionally Certifying the Settlement Class, Providing for Notice, and Scheduling Order at 2, Baharestan v. Venus Labs., Inc., dba Earth Friendly Products, Inc., No.
 (footnote continued)

1 This Court has already considered the worthiness of Consumers Union as a cy pres
 2 recipient, and Class Counsel provided a supplemental declaration on the issue. See Minute Entry
 3 Nov. 3, 2015; Supplemental Declaration of Mark N. Todzo in Supporting of Motion for 4 Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement Agreement (“Todzo Supp. Prelim. Decl.”)
 5 (ECF No. 22). Following this consideration, the Court entered an order preliminarily approving
 6 the Settlement. (See ECF No. 23.)

7 Ultimately, Helfand’s criticism is purely a matter of personal and political opinion--in a 8 Settlement he has not filed a claim in nonetheless—and thus, does not bear on the 9 reasonableness, adequacy, or fairness of the Settlement. See Perkins, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 10 18649, at *37 (quoting Lane v. Facebook, Inc., 969 F.3d 811, 825 (9th Cir. 2012)) (“courts ‘do 11 not require as part of [cy pres] doctrine that settling parties select a cy pres recipient that the 12 court or class members would find ideal”). As such, his objection should be overruled.

CONCLUSION

14 For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court strike the Helfand
 15 Objection for lack of standing, or in the alternative, overrule the objection and enter Final 16 Approval.

17 DATED: March 7, 2016

Respectfully submitted,
